White Slaver Found Guilty on Citizens Party Candidates Com-Four Out of Six Counts-Camminetti to be Tried Next.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.-Interest in the Diggs case centers on the severity of the sentence to be imposed by Judge Van Fleet Sept. 2, on Maury I. Diggs, convicted of having violated the white slave law when he went with Miss Marsha Warrington, Drew Caminetti and Miss Lola Norris to Reno. Having been convicted on four of the six counts in the indictment against him, Diggs may be sentenced to pay a fine of $20,000 to 20 years' imprisonment, or both.

That there will be an appeal, however seems certain. Diggs' lawyers stated immediately after the verdict. that they would take the case to the supreme court if necessary, Diggs admitted as the jury went

TRIBUNE CROWD TRIED TO FREEZE OUT LANGEL

Men Who Try to Dictate Nominations Fail to Scare Langel and May Not Deliver Judge-

With the citizens' primary drawing near, a number of people are commenting on the number of pictures of citizens' candidates that are tacked on the telephone posts around town. Keller and Place, candidates for mayor, are the worst offenders in this respect. Just a little while back the South Bend Tribune hunted up a clean place in the street and lay down and had a nice long fit because Nelson Kyser's cards were tacked on the telephone posts. The law forbidding this was as a law-breaker.

Yet here are Place and Keller, the Tribune's former and present candidates, doing the same thing.

The Tribune said that a candidate who would tack his cards on the telephone posts or allow his friends to do so was a law breaker. Hence Keller and Place are law breakers.

The Tribune said that any man who would flagrantly violate the law in this way was no fit man to enforce the city's laws. Hence by the Tribune's own logic, Place and Keller are unfit to be mayor. The Tribune lamented that no one

The way is now open for Grandma Trib to change her ancient sun bonnet for a policeman's helmet, and demonstrate the sincerity of her own preaching about obedience to law by march-
